

National Severe Weather Warning Service

CANCELLED

Chief Forecasters Assessment

The vigorous depression is now gradually easing away from northern Scotland. While winds are gusting to between 60 and 70 mph in Shetland, most other areas have now seen a substantial decrease. A slight increase associated with further squally showers around rush hour this evening may bring gusts of around 50 mph, but on balance, only minimal impacts seem likely.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Wind

Valid from 18:00 on Thu, 12th Nov 2015 until 23:00 on Fri, 13th Nov 2015

West to southwesterly winds, while still strong to gale force in many areas, have now decreased and further impacts seem unlikely.
